

Restaurant recommendations for Friday dinner

On Friday, all tours of Prague will end at the Old Town Square at around 8-8:30, after which you can go to dinner in the center of Prague. We have put together some recommendations for restaurants in the surrounding areas, also in case some of you would like to plan ahead and reserve. This may be safer if you want to be sure to get place in a specific restaurant due to e.g. dietary restrictions etc.

Czech cuisine

Czech cuisine is quite heavy on the meat and the typical Czech dishes you will find in most Czech restaurants include Svíčková (beef in sour-creamy sauce), Guláš/Goulash (beef or pork stew), pork knuckle, duck leg, all usually served with a side of Czech dumplings.

The traditional Czech vegetarian dishes are fried cheese (or fried Camembert-type cheese called Hermelín) or bramborák (potato pancake). We recommend two fully vegetarian restaurants, Maitrea and Lehká Hlava, which offer vegetarian versions of the two typical Czech dishes, Svíčková and Guláš/Goulash and have also many vegan options. All other restaurants on this list also have vegetarian options.

Czech

Stridacka

Restaurace Mincovna

Lokal Dlouhá

Kozlovna Apropos

Potrefena husa Platnerska

Restaurace Tiskárna Národní

Restaurace Obecni dum

Krčma

More fine-dining options:

Restaurace Mlynec

V Zatisi

Cafe Imperial

Next Door by Imperial

La Veranda

Vegetarian/ Vegan

Maitrea

Lehká hlava

Linh's vegan corner

International

Las Adelitas - Mexican

Marina Ristorante – Italian restaurant on a boat on the Vltava river

La Finestra in Cucina Prague

Pasta Fresca

Food Lab Restaurant